Asia/Europe overnight tone was not verified.

- Closing Look — Thursday, October 29, 2026 — Cappnotes.
- Gold, silver fall as strong US GDP, inflation support Fed tightening bets — Kitco.

03 Legislative & Regulatory Tracker — Who Wins, Who Loses

Jurisdiction	Legislation / Policy Change	Affected Sector(s)	Net Impact & Strategic Outlook
Local — Pakistan	National Assembly session ends 30 Oct; the government and PPP agreed on key IMF-linked bills (seed, railway, petroleum products) on 27 Oct, with tax, duty and financial-sector bills still under discussion.	Government finances, banks, SOEs, petroleum, agriculture	Wins: IMF programme continuity and the PPP's coalition leverage [EST.]. Loses: taxpayers and sectors facing IMF-linked duty measures [EST.]. Net: passage supports Board approval of the ~$1.2bn tranche; slippage is a rupee and sentiment risk [EST.].
GCC	Saudi Enforcement Law and 54-article regulations effective 29 Oct; bills of exchange and promissory notes must be registered on approved electronic platforms.	Saudi banks, lenders, trade credit	Wins: creditors and lenders with registered electronic notes [EST.]. Loses: debtors and holders of unregistered paper notes [EST.]. Net: faster enforcement but a compliance scramble [EST.].
Global — US	FOMC held at 3.75–4.00% on 28 October, 10-2 with two hike dissents; hot Q3 GDP and PCE keep a December hike in play.	Rates-sensitive equities, gold, EM importers	Wins: USD cash and short-duration holders [EST.]. Loses: long bonds, gold and EM oil importers incl. Pakistan [EST.]. Net: ~5% US yields plus ~$115 Brent narrow Pakistan's room to ease [EST.].

04 The Day Ahead — KSE-100 Levels & Desk Stance (Friday 30 October)

SUPPORT EST.
166,120
S1; then 165,047 (S2)

PIVOT EST.
166,810
classic pivot off Thursday's close 167,193, ~167,500 early high and prior close 165,737 as low proxy

RESISTANCE EST.
167,883
R1; then 168,573 (R2)

Desk stance — Constructive above 166,810; take profits into 167,883–168,573. The index closed near its ~167,500 high on a fourth straight gain; a close above R1 (167,883) opens 168,573, while a slide under 166,810 returns focus to 166,120 and a break there targets 165,047. Drivers. (1) The final day of the National Assembly session and IMF-linked bills. (2) Wall Street's tech rout and hot US data lifting rate-hike bets. (3) Brent near $115 and Iran/Hormuz headlines, with US midterms on 3 Nov and OPEC+ on 1 Nov. (4) Month-end positioning and October CPI on 1 Nov. Positioning. Prefer banks, fertiliser and E&Ps on pullbacks; keep cash buffers for oil and US-rate event risk [EST.]. Mood: Constructive.

Run note: compiled ~08:30 PKT Friday (scheduled morning slot missed). Levels use Thursday's close, the ~167,500 early-session high reported by Business Recorder, and the prior close as a low proxy because the intraday low was not published. Not verified: Thursday USD/PKR interbank (last verified 276.80, 27 Oct), KSE-100 breadth and sector points, ADX close, PIF news, Asia/Europe tone and Friday-morning metals. 2Y yield, DFM, KIBOR and T-bill cut-offs are single-source.
