01 Five Things You Need To Know To Start Your Day

KSE-100 SHEDS 2,547 POINTS

The benchmark closed Tuesday at 177,955.51, down 2,546.94 points (1.41%) from Monday's 180,502.45, having swung from an intraday high of 180,602.44 to a low of 177,866.04 after the Supreme Court ordered former PM Imran Khan's transfer to Shifa International Hospital for medical examination, compounding fading hopes for a durable US-Iran deal over the Strait of Hormuz. Selling was broad-based — banks, oil & gas exploration and marketing names, cement, fertiliser, power generation and auto assemblers all fell — on volume of 1.03bn shares worth Rs50.7bn. Sources: Express Tribune, Business Recorder. Sentiment: risk-off, broad-based.

WALL STREET FALLS AS CHIP STOCKS SELL OFF

The S&P 500 fell 53.30 points (0.69%) to 7,691.76, the Dow eased 0.22% to 53,343.40 and the Nasdaq dropped 1.33% to 26,289.71 as a chip-stock sell-off compounded pressure from elevated oil prices and government bond yields. Sources: TheStreet, Yahoo Finance. Sentiment: risk-off.

TANKER STRUCK NEAR HORMUZ, BRENT NEAR $91

A vessel transiting the Strait of Hormuz near Oman was struck by a projectile, sustaining engine-room damage and a crew casualty, after the 60-day US-Iran negotiation window lapsed without progress; Iran says the strait stays "closed" until US sanctions conditions are addressed, though separate talks with Oman continue. Brent held near $91.0/bbl and WTI near $85.0/bbl on the risk premium. Sources: Kitco, Trading Economics. Sentiment: firm, geopolitically driven.

GOLD, SILVER SLIP DESPITE HORMUZ RISK

Spot gold eased 0.6% to $4,388/oz and silver fell 1.2% to $64.90/oz, as a firmer 10-year Treasury yield (4.74%, with the 30-year still near a 19-year high above 5.3%) capped safe-haven demand even as the Hormuz tanker attack kept a floor under risk premia. Sources: Kitco, Forbes Advisor. Sentiment: soft, yields-capped.

OPEC+ OUTPUT HIKE, SAUDI PMI HOLDS NEAR 53

Seven OPEC+ members (Saudi Arabia, Russia, Iraq, Kuwait, Kazakhstan, Algeria, Oman) are raising output by 188,000 bpd from August under an early-July decision, while Saudi Arabia's non-oil private sector stayed expansionary for a fourth straight month in July (Riyad Bank PMI 53.1), underpinning the PIF's 2026–2030 diversification push even as the Hormuz standoff raises regional shipping-cost risk. Sources: Al Jazeera, Business Recorder. Sentiment: resilient, diversification intact.

02 Regional Market & Economic Matrix

A. Local Market — Pakistan Focus

The KSE-100 tumbled 2,546.94 points (1.41%) to 177,955.51 on Tuesday, wiping out Monday's energy-led gain after the Supreme Court ordered former PM Imran Khan's transfer to Shifa International Hospital for medical examination compounded fading prospects for a lasting US-Iran deal over Hormuz. The sell-off was unusually broad — banks, oil & gas, cement, fertiliser, power and autos all fell — on volume of 1.03bn shares worth Rs50.7bn, a sign this was genuine de-risking rather than sector rotation. July CPI eased to 9.2% y/y from 11.1% in June, and the SBP held its policy rate at 11.5% for a second straight meeting. An IMF mission is expected next month for the fourth EFF/second RSF review, with roughly $1.2bn (a $1bn fifth EFF tranche plus $200m RSF) in view, contingent on budget implementation, privatisation and energy circular-debt progress.

B. GCC & Middle East

Brent held near $91.0/bbl after a vessel transiting the Strait of Hormuz near Oman was struck by a projectile, sustaining engine-room damage and a crew casualty, following the lapse of the 60-day US-Iran negotiation window; Iran maintains the strait stays "closed" until US sanctions conditions are addressed, even as separate Oman-mediated talks continue. Seven OPEC+ members are raising output by 188,000 bpd from August, a signal of confidence in demand even amid the standoff. Saudi Arabia's non-oil private sector stayed expansionary in July (Riyad Bank PMI 53.1), with the PIF's 2026–2030 strategy (tourism, manufacturing, logistics, NEOM) still the medium-term anchor. Firmer crude is a near-term fiscal tailwind for Gulf exporters, but the fresh tanker attack raises shipping- and insurance-cost risk for the region.

C. Global Intelligence

Wall Street fell Tuesday — S&P 500 -0.69% to 7,691.76, Dow -0.22% to 53,343.40, Nasdaq -1.33% to 26,289.71 — as a chip-stock sell-off compounded pressure from elevated oil prices and government bond yields. The 10-year Treasury yield stood at 4.74% and the 2-year at 4.19%, with the 30-year still near a 19-year high above 5.3%; Fed Chair Kevin Warsh's hawkish July tone — nine of 18 FOMC participants project a 2026 hike — keeps a September rate hike in play, a risk compounded by the fresh Hormuz tanker attack's inflationary impulse. Brent held near $91.0/bbl and WTI near $85.0/bbl on the risk premium, while gold eased 0.6% to $4,388/oz (silver -1.2% to $64.90) as higher yields capped haven demand despite the risk-off mood.

03 Legislative & Regulatory Tracker — Who Wins, Who Loses

Jurisdiction	Legislation / Policy Change	Affected Sector(s)	Net Impact & Strategic Outlook
Local — Pakistan	IMF mission expected next month for the fourth EFF/second RSF review (~$1.2bn: ~$1bn fifth EFF tranche + ~$200m RSF), focused on budget implementation, privatisation and energy circular-debt reform; SBP holds policy rate at 11.5% as July CPI eases to 9.2%.	Banks, IPPs, Energy, Sovereign bonds	Wins: exporters and energy-linked equities if the ~$1.2bn tranche clears on schedule, easing FX reserve pressure. Losses: power and gas utilities facing continued circular-debt reform pressure, and rate-sensitive banks that had priced in an earlier cut the hold denies them.
Regional — GCC	Seven OPEC+ members raise output by 188,000 bpd from August under an early-July decision, even as the Hormuz tanker attack near Oman keeps regional transit risk elevated.	Energy, Oil exporters, Shipping/Insurance	Wins: Gulf national budgets and oil exporters via firmer crude and added output flexibility. Losses: shippers and insurers exposed to Hormuz transit risk, and import-dependent economies facing costlier energy.
Global	A tanker struck near the Strait of Hormuz after the US-Iran negotiation window lapsed without a successor deal; Fed Chair Kevin Warsh's hawkish tilt (nine of 18 FOMC participants see a 2026 hike) keeps a September rate hike in play as long-dated yields sit near multi-decade highs.	Rates, Energy, Equities, USD, Shipping/Insurance	Wins: energy producers and the dollar on the risk premium; Gulf exporters via firmer crude. Losses: rate-sensitive growth equities and chip stocks, EM borrowers facing costlier dollar funding, and shippers exposed to Hormuz transit risk.

04 The Day Ahead — KSE-100 Levels & Desk Stance

PIVOT EST.

177,956

Tuesday's close (177,955.51)

RESISTANCE EST.

180,600

Tuesday's intraday high (180,602.44); then round-number resistance at 181,000

We read Tuesday's swoon as genuine de-risking rather than sector rotation: selling was broad across banks, energy and cyclicals, and it accelerated on a confirmed domestic development (Imran Khan's hospital transfer) rather than rumour, while offshore a fresh Hormuz tanker attack keeps the crude-and-yields backdrop hostile to risk assets. That argues for a cautious near-term stance, watching whether the 177,000–177,900 band holds; a clean break exposes the 175,500 shelf. A stabilisation in Hormuz headlines and confirmation of the September IMF mission timeline are the cleanest catalysts to rebuild confidence.
